Foreword

Ministry of Statistics & Programme Implementation (MoSPI) serves as the designated nodal agency responsible for the structured development and standardization of India's Statistical System. In an era where data serves as the foundation for informed policymaking and governance, the availability of cohesive, reliable, and accessible government data is of paramount importance. In India's decentralized framework, individual Ministries and Departments independently compile and release datasets, indicators, and registries on their respective digital platforms. While this decentralization enables domain-specific expertise, it also results in the dispersion of data, limiting centralized access for stakeholders who rely on comprehensive data available in an easily and readily accessible manner. To address this challenge, MoSPI has developed the Compendium of Datasets and Registries. This publication consolidates data resources from Central Ministries and Departments, presenting a unified reference that encompasses metadata, legal provisions, and details on various datasets. This initiative is a key component of the Ministry's commitment to promoting data transparency, accessibility, and facilitating evidence-based decision-making across the nation.

The Compendium aims to serve as an indispensable resource for policymakers, researchers, academicians, students, analysts, and the broader public. The current Compendium now includes 257 datasets and registries, a significant increase from the 70 featured in the beta version, with contributions from 40 Ministries and Departments, up from 38 previously. This edition also incorporates a chapter summarizing data dissemination practices across government bodies, detailing formats, periodicity, disaggregation levels, and methods of compilation utilized by various Ministries and Departments. To further aid comprehension, a glossary has been appended, elucidating technical terms and methodologies, thereby enhancing accessibility for both specialized users and the public.

I wish to extend my profound gratitude to the various Ministries and Departments whose cooperation has been instrumental in the compilation of this publication. I also wish to formally acknowledge the dedication and expertise of the team at the Data Innovation and Informatics Division, MoSPI—comprising Sh. Rohit Bhardwaj, Dy. Director General; Ms. Ambica Anand Chatterjee, Director; Sh. Manish Joon, Deputy Director; Ms. Himanshi Trivedi, Deputy Director; and Ms. Jyoti, Sr. Statistical Officer. Their collective efforts have been pivotal in ensuring the timely completion of this updated Compendium.

This Compendium will serve as an invaluable instrument in fostering enhanced data accessibility and advancing the quality of decision-making across sectors in India. It is our sincere hope that this publication will inspire further advancements in data-driven governance and contribute to policies that reflect the evolving needs and aspirations of our society.

Overview

An overview of some key features of the datasets/ indicators/ registries collated in this publication has been prepared after studying their metadata details, as may be seen below:

i. Dissemination formats

On studying the dissemination formats of information being disseminated by various Ministries/ Departments (as included in this publication), it has been noticed that half of the datasets covered in this Compendium have been brought out in PDF format. Whereas 40% of the data is disseminated in user-friendly formats viz. MS Excel, CSV, txt.

Note: i. Data used for graphical representation is not mutually exclusive, since one dataset may be disseminated in more than one type of formats.
ii. Others includes - MS-Word, HTML, Web Intelligence, Online data through portal, .img, .geotiff, json, API etc.

ii. Levels of disaggregation:

Majority of the datasets covered in the Compendium (71%) have been disaggregated by geography, with 30% of dataset available only at the all-India level.

Note: i. Data used for graphical representation is not mutually exclusive, since one dataset may be disseminated with different types of disaggregations.

- ii. 'Sector' includes – Mining, Quarrying, Manufacturing, Agriculture, Industry, Services, EGWR, Finance, Trade, Textiles etc.
- iii. 'Others' in first pie chart includes – occupation-wise, bank-group-wise, Product-category-wise, commodity wise, indicator-wise, age-wise, species-wise etc.
- iv. District-Wise data also includes data of city-wise, block-wise, village-wise, household-wise, region-wise.
- v. 'Others' in second pie chart includes regions of foreign territories.

iii. Periodicity

Majority of datasets/ indicators/ registries collated in the Compendium are compiled/ disseminated annually or monthly. These together account for almost 60% of datasets being compiled.

(Values in %)

Note: Data used for graphical representation is not mutually exclusive, since a dataset may be disseminated at different periodicities.

iv. Compilation methods

On studying the compilation methods of datasets/ registries of various Ministries/ Departments covered in this publication, it has been noticed that almost 55% of the information brought out by various Ministries/ Departments fall under the category of ‘Administrative data’, whereas only 14% of the information pertaining to datasets/ indicators covered in the Compendium is collected through surveys.

Note: The above categories have been defined as per the classification defined in the National Metadata Structure for Statistical Products, brought out by MoSPI in 2021.

6.	List of key variables used for computation and their units of measurement (in case of indicators)	-
7.	Disaggregation level	All India; State-Wise
8.	Data collection method and tools used	The prices are collected every month as per a weekly schedule from 1114 markets in 310 towns and 1181 villages across the country. The retail prices for different commodity groups are collected on fixed days of the week as far as possible, such that comparisons between two markets from the same outlet are not affected by differences in the timings of data collection. A representative sample of rented dwellings, occupied by the urban population has been selected for canvassing House Rent Schedule. Rent calculation is carried out for the same set of rented dwellings at six-monthly intervals i.e. each rented house is selected once in six months. The selected sample of rented house is divided into six sub samples. Rent from sub samples are collected on rolling survey basis; by visiting one sub sample in one month.
9.	List of classifications used	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The weighing diagrams for the new CPI series have been derived on the basis of average monthly consumer expenditure of an urban/rural household obtained from the Modified Mixed Reference Period (MMRP) Data of NSS 68th round Consumer Expenditure Survey (2011-12). Various items are classified into 6 consumption groups and subgroups broadly considering Classification of Individual

		Consumption according to Purpose (COICOP), the standard international classification as well as present classification of items adopted in the existing CPI numbers compiled at national level.
10.	Data compilation method and tools used	Compilation of CPI numbers for items other than house rent consists of two stages i.e. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i Calculation of price indices for elementary aggregates (item level indices) and ii The aggregation of these elementary price indices to higher level indices using the weights associated with each level. Laspeyre's formula is used for aggregation of indices. Specifications of items have been selected on the basis of popularity in the respective areas. These specifications are different in terms of units, quantity, quality etc. for different price schedules. Prices relative of each product specification (current month price/base year average price) is worked out. Geometric mean of these price relatives under the respective item multiplied with 100 gives the index for that item. In case of seasonal items of vegetables and fruits, whenever prices of these items are not reported in a particular month, weights of such items are distributed on a pro-rata basis to the items in the respective section (root vegetables, leafy vegetables, other vegetables and fresh fruits). House rent index is compiled by chain base method. Two categories of dwellings viz. rented dwellings and self-owned dwellings are considered in the compilation of the house rent index. The rental equivalence approach is adopted in respect of self- owned dwellings. For each State/UT, previous five months and current month data are used to compile rent relatives for the current month. Rent relative is calculated as current month rent/rent six months ago and then geometric mean of rent relative is worked out by classifying the dwellings by number of living rooms (1 room, 2 rooms, 3 rooms and 4 or more rooms). Weighted geometric mean of these average rent relatives is taken to get a combined rent relative using the estimated proportions of dwellings under each group, obtained from the NSS 69th round survey (July 2012-December 2012) on Housing Conditions. House rent index is obtained by multiplying the combined rent relative with the corresponding rent index six months ago.

12.	Periodicity/ frequency	Monthly
13.	Time lag in dissemination from reference period	CPI for the reference month is released with a lag of 12 days for the current month.

6.	List of key variables used for computation and their units of measurement (in case of indicators)	i) Item wise weight ii)Price of 465 items across all centers
7.	Disaggregation level	All India; Centre Wise;
8.	Data collection method and tools used	The prices of selected 465 items in index basket from 317 markets of 88 centers spread over 28 states/UTs across the country are collected by the state Government officials engaged on part time basis. The prices of selected basket of goods and services are collected on weekly, monthly, half yearly and yearly basis keeping in view of the nature of consumption and frequency of changes in prices. The Repeat House Rent Surveys (RHRS), in the form of six-monthly rounds, is conducted on a sub-sample of dwellings covered during the main income & expenditure survey. Under the house rent survey, three types of dwellings viz. Rented, Rent free and Self-owned (owner occupied) are covered across all the 88 centers. The total span of six months to cover all the selected dwellings is known as a round and each month of the round is termed as a sub-round for this survey. All the dwellings covered in a sub-round are surveyed again after an interval of six months in the subsequent round.
9.	List of classifications used	COICOP
10.	Data compilation method and tools used	The Laspeyre's base weighted formula is used for compilation of index. Centre specific indices in respect of all the 88 centres are being compiled on month to month basis by utilizing the expenditure on an item in the base period and the ratio of current period price to base period price of

		an item as price relative. The Geometric Mean is used for averaging the price relatives of an item across all markets in a given centre. Chain Base Method is followed in the compilation of House Rent Index. Since, it is unrealistic to assume that all the sample dwellings would remain either occupied or be in the same condition during every successive round. Therefore, instead of working out price relatives directly with reference to the base year prices, as in the case of other items of the index basket, the rent relatives of all the dwellings in the sample are worked out on the basis of total rents of the sampled dwellings in current round of RHRS with reference to the previous round. The rent relative of the current round is then multiplied with the house rent index of the previous round to obtain the house rent index for the current round and in this manner a chain to the base year is established. The All India Index is the weighted average of 88 centre level indices. The centre weights are being determined as the ratio of product of average consumption expenditure per family as per the main survey and the number of Working Class Families represented by a centre in a State to sum of such products over all the centres.
