The National Sample Survey
Seventeenth Round : September 1961-July 1962
Tables with notes on some aspects of land holdings in rural areas
(STATE AND ALL-INDIA ESTIMATES)

Introduction

1.1 The survey on land holdings carried out in the sixteenth round of the National Sample Survey (NSS) in response to the World Food & Agricultural Organisation^{1/} (FAO) programme of Agricultural Census (1960) was continued in the Seventeenth Round (September 1961-July 1962) of the NSS also with a view to build up dependable estimates on different items of enquiry at the regional level^{1/} (below the State level) by pooling the data of sixteenth and seventeenth rounds together. This preliminary report contains some features of land holdings namely, distribution of ownership holdings and extent of leasing out of land owned, distribution of agricultural holdings and fragmentation of holdings etc. at the State and national levels only.

1.2 Since the intention of continuing the enquiry in the seventeenth round of the NSS was to augment the sample size by pooling the data of sixteenth and seventeenth rounds together, the sampling design, the concepts and definitions and the items of enquiry remained the same as those adopted for the sixteenth round enquiry. The survey in the sixteenth round^{2/} was conducted in the rural areas only while the coverage of the enquiry was extended to the urban areas also in the seventeenth round. The information contained in this report pertains to the rural areas only.

1.3 An inter-departmental committee on Agricultural Census (1960) consisting of the Planning Commission, the Central Statistical Organisation, the Indian Council of Agricultural Research, the Ministry of Food and Agriculture, the Ministry of Community Development and the Directorate of National Sample Survey was set up by the Government of India which was responsible for the finalisation of the concepts and definitions adopted in the survey. While formulating the concepts and definitions for the survey, the committee took into account the recommendations put forward by the FAO in its Programme of World Agricultural Census (1960).

^{1/} Regions within each State were formed covering contiguous districts having similar crop patterns and population densities. Altogether 48 regions were formed in the whole of rural India.

^{2/} A report on agricultural holdings based on the data collected in the sixteenth round of the NSS covering the features required mainly by the FAO

1.4 The information on ownership and operational holdings^{3/} were collected by interviewing the households. While particulars of area owned, area leased out etc. were collected from each sample household, details of operational holding in respect of its area distribution, composition and utilisation, the extent of irrigation and manuring etc. were recorded^{for} each operational holding possessed (individually or jointly with other households) by the sample households. Information on area owned by households (i.e. by all members of the household) on the date of survey was recorded plot by plot. In case a plot was owned jointly with other households, only the share of area owned by the sample household was taken into account. As regards operational holding information was collected for the agricultural year July 1960 to June 1961. Plots possessed by the holdings for the major part (more than six months) of the agricultural year 1960-1961 were enumerated and particulars of operational holdings were recorded for each of the plots. In case an operational holding was managed jointly by more than one household, all plots either owned or leased in by the participating households and coming under the purview of the operational holding were taken into account. It may be noted that since an operational holding was comprised of lands put wholly or partly to some agricultural uses, operational holdings may be considered as agricultural holdings. For this reason, sometimes use of agricultural holdings is made in place of operational holdings in this report.

1.5 The survey was carried out in whole of India excluding Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Laccadive, Minicoy and Amindivi Islands, Ladakh district of Jammu and Kashmir, North East Frontier Agency and some inaccessible areas of Manipur.

1.6 The survey started in September 1961 and ended in July 1962. The total period was split up into 6 sub-rounds of 8 weeks each.

1.7 It was planned to survey altogether 3888 villages in three independent and inter-penetrating samples, each of which could provide valid estimates of the characteristics. As the work-load in this round was very heavy in comparison to the field staff available, some investigators were recruited and were entrusted with the work of surveying the sample villages of the third sub-sample. Since there had been some delay in recruitment and training of the new investigators, villages pertaining to the first sub-round of the third sub-sample could not be surveyed. All villages belonging to third sub-sample in Orissa were not surveyed. It may also be pointed out that mainly on the considerations of availability of the investigating staff, the sampling design was so ~~opti~~opted as to permit only one sample in Delhi (sub-sample 1 only) and two sub-samples in Himachal Pradesh (sub-samples 2 and 3) instead of three sub-samples.

1.8 The results of the survey were tabulated by sub-samples and estimates for States and all-India are presented in this report for each of the three sub-samples and also by combining the three sub-sample estimates. The divergence between the sub-sample estimates provide some idea about the margin of uncertainty of the estimates. Some important features of land holdings at the national level have been summarised in Chapter three.

1.9 The field work was entrusted to the Directorate of National Sample Survey, Government of India, in all the States and Union territories except in West Bengal where the survey was conducted by the Indian Statistical Institute. Indian Statistical Institute was responsible for the sampling design adopted in the survey and the processing and tabulation of the data.

1.10 The facsimile of the schedules of enquiry (schedules 6.1 and 6.2) are shown in Appendix II.

CHAPTER TWO

CONCEPTS, DEFINITIONS AND SAMPLING DESIGN

2.1. The concepts and definitions adopted in the survey are given in the subsequent paragraphs.

2.2. Household : A group of persons who usually live together and take meals from a common kitchen constituted a household. Whether a person satisfying the criterion of common messing would be considered as a member of the household or not was left to the discretion of the head of the household. Temporary absentees who were considered by the head of the household as member of the household were included while persons like, domestic servants, private tutors, paying guests, etc., were not treated as members of the household.

2.3. Ownership of land : The ownership right over a plot of land was defined as the right of permanent heritable possession with or without the right to transfer the title. Land held in owner-like possession directly from the Government or from others under a long term lease or assignment was also considered as land owned by the household. Land owned or held in owner-like possession by households was classified as follows :

(a) land held directly from Government under a grant, lease or assignment with right of permanent and heritable possession with or without the right to transfer title;

(b) land held from persons other than Government with right of permanent and heritable possession with or without the right to transfer title.

2.4. Household ownership holding : A household ownership holding was constituted by all plots of land, cultivable or not, owned by the household. In case a plot was owned jointly by two or more households, only sample household's share was taken into account.

2.5. Land leased out : All land owned by a household might not be under its physical possession. The household might lease out land owned by it without losing the ownership right. Land owned but not under the physical possession of the household was taken as land 'leased out' by the household.

2.6. Operational holding : An operational holding was constituted by all lands used wholly or partly for agricultural production and was operated by the person, alone or with the assistance of others, without regard to title.

The holding might consist of one or more parcels of land provided they were situated in the same State and came under the purview of same technical unit. Thus an operational holding was fully defined when the 'person' operating it and the distinct 'technical unit' associated with the work of the holding were identified. A 'person' in the definition refers to a single household or a number of households operating jointly. By technical unit was understood, in the context of agricultural operations, an economic unit with more or less independent technical resources etc., covering items like land, implements, livestock etc. If more than one 'person' had operated land using more or less the same technical resources, the number of holdings in such cases was considered to be the same as the number of 'persons' involved though the technical units were almost the same. On the other hand, number of technical units was taken as the basis for determining the number of operational holdings in cases where under the same 'person', there were more than one distinct technical unit. A holding constituted by lands put to non-agricultural uses only or used exclusively as pastures or for livestock raising or production of livestock products and/or pisciculture was excluded from the scope of the survey.

2.7. Agricultural production : Agricultural production included the growing of field crops, fruits, grapes, nuts, seeds, tree nurseries (except those of forest trees), bulbs, vegetables and flowers, both in open and under glass; production of coffee, tea, cocoa, rubber, the forest production in parcels of land which formed part of the enumeration holding; and the production of livestock and livestock products, poultry and poultry products, honey, rabbits, furbearing animals, silk-worm cocoons, etc., on land forming part of the enumeration holding.

2.8. For the purpose of the survey, a household was considered to possess at least one operational holding if it had undertaken some 'agricultural production' individually or jointly with other households during the reference period. An operational holding might possess land owned as well as land leased in by the management of the holding.

2.9. Parcels : A parcel of an operational holding was defined as all land entirely surrounded by land of other holdings or by land not forming part of any holding. A parcel might consist of one or more cadastral units, plots or fields.

2.10. Household operational holding : The aggregate of areas under different operational holdings possessed by a household was taken to be the household operational holding for the particular household. In case of joint operational holdings managed by more than one household, only sample household's share was taken into account, the share being determined on the assumption that the measure of area contributed by co-partner households was the same.

SAMPLE DESIGN

2.11. A stratified two-stage design was adopted for this enquiry with villages as the first-stage units and households, the ultimate units.

2.12. Altogether 3888 villages were planned for this enquiry. The basis for allocation of villages to different states was the same as that adopted in the sixteenth round except for Tripura. The total sample villages for all states (except Jammu & Kashmir and Tripura) was allocated to the states on a joint consideration of their rural populations and areas under food crops. The allocation to a state was finally decided on the basis of the investigating staff available and the figure so arrived was rounded off to multiple of 18. Villages in a state were further allocated to its regions in proportion to their rural populations and in multiples of 18. In Jammu & Kashmir and Tripura, the number of villages to be surveyed was fixed on the basis of the investigating staff available.

2.13. Regions within states were formed by grouping contiguous districts having similar crop patterns and population densities. Identity of regions remained the same as that of the sixteenth round and altogether 48 such regions were formed in whole of India. Within each region, strata were formed covering contiguous tehsils of fairly homogeneous character with regard to their population densities in such a manner that the population of each stratum was more or less equal. The number of strata within a region was made one-eighteenth of the allocation to that region. Stratification was exactly similar to that adopted in the sixteenth round except in Manipur and Tripura. While Manipur constituted a stratum by itself, Tripura was divided into 5 strata. The total number of strata in whole of India was 216. Strata with very large area were further divided into two or more investigation zones (groups of contiguous tehsils) having more or less equal areas and three investigation zones were selected from each stratum with probability proportional to the number of villages in the zones and :

2.14. Within each stratum (with the exception of Delhi, Himachal Pradesh and Tripura), three independent sub-samples of 6 villages each were selected circular systematically with independent random starts after arranging the tehsils in order of their geographical nearness. In Tripura, from each stratum, three independent balanced linear systematic samples of 6 villages each were drawn after arranging the villages in a stratum in the increasing order of their 1951 census population. Though Delhi and Himachal Pradesh formed one stratum, 6 villages were selected from the Delhi portion to form sub-sample 1 and 2 sets of 6 villages each were drawn from Himachal Pradesh to form sub-samples 2 and 3. The frame used for the selection was the list of 1951 census villages but the revenue village corresponding to the selected census village was taken as the unit of survey. In case of large villages, specified number of hamlet groups of roughly equal population were formed, and one of them selected with equal probability was taken up for survey.

2.15. The survey period was partitioned into 6 sub-rounds of 8 weeks each. The investigators were grouped into 3 parties and each party was entrusted with the work of surveying an independent sub-sample of 6 villages in a stratum. Thus in each stratum, three independent and interpenetrating net-work of samples of villages were surveyed by three investigators belonging to different parties. It may be noted that due to some delay in recruiting the field staff allotted for the survey work in regard to sub-sample 3, villages of sub-round 1 pertaining to sub-sample 3 could not be surveyed. In Orissa, the entire work of sub-sample 3 was abandoned due to the non-availability of staff.

2.16. It was planned to survey 90 households from the 6 villages selected for a sub-sample within each stratum. The total number of households to be interviewed was allocated to the 6 villages in proportion to their rural population as per 1951 census.

2.17. Before selecting the households in the sample villages, all households in each sample village were classified into three groups (termed as second-stage strata) depending on the land possessed by each household. For generating second-stage strata, all households were classified first into the following 10 size classes of land possessed.

| class | holds (0.00 acre) |
|--------------|--------------------------|
| 1 | upto 0.99 |
| 2 | 1.00 - 2.49 |
| 3 | 2.50 - 4.99 |
| 4 | 5.00 - 7.49 |
| 5 | 7.50 - 9.99 |
| 6 | 10.00 - 14.99 |
| 7 | 15.00 - 19.99 |
| 8 | 20.00 - 29.99 |
| 9 | 30.00 - 49.99 |
| 10 | 50.00 & above |

The households falling in the first size class, i.e. those possessing land less than 1 acre constituted the first 'second-stage stratum', the first half of the remaining households arranged in size classes 2 to 10 formed the second 'second-stage stratum' and the rest of households (the other half) constituted the third 'second-stage stratum'. The total number of households to be surveyed in a village was allocated to the three second-stage strata in proportion to the number of size classes represented in each stratum, so as to give greater weights to strata 2 and 3 than to stratum 1. A circular systematic sample of the allocated number of households was drawn from each stratum within a village.

Estimation procedure

2.18 The stratum estimate of total for any characteristic for a particular sub-sample is given by

$$\hat{T} = \frac{N_s}{n_s} \sum_{i=1}^{n_s} f_{si} D_{si} \sum_{r=1}^3 \frac{H_{si}^{(r)}}{h_{si}^{(r)}} \sum_{j=1}^{h_{si}^{(r)}} x_{sij}^{(r)} \text{ where}$$

$x_{sij}^{(r)}$ = value of the characteristic for the j th household^{2/} of r th second-stage stratum in i th village of the s th stratum.

$h_{si}^{(r)}$ = number of households surveyed from the r th second-stage stratum in i th village of the s th stratum.

$H_{si}^{(r)}$ = total number of households in the r th second-stage stratum in i th village of s th stratum.

1/ In some villages, the total number of households to be surveyed was enhanced to cover the following cases :-

- i) If the number of households allocated for survey was less than the number of second-stage strata, one household was sampled from each second-stage stratum.
- ii) If the allocation to any second-stage stratum had been zero and there was at least one household in it, then one household was sampled from that stratum.

2/ In case of a character relating to an operational holding, x_{sij} corresponded to the sum of the values of the characteristic for the different operational holdings of the i th household in i th village

- f_{si} is the adjustment factor for revenue village which is as follows
- = 1 is the 1 when surveyed revenue village coincides with the sampled census village.
 - = $\frac{1}{r}$ is the $\frac{1}{r}$, when the surveyed revenue village is one of r revenue villages which are wholly contained in the sampled census village.
 - = $\frac{1}{r}$ is the $\frac{1}{r}$, when the surveyed revenue village contains wholly r census villages one of which is the sampled census village.
- D_{si} = is the number of hamlet groups formed in the i th village of s th stratum.
- n_s = is the number of villages surveyed in the s th stratum.
- N_s = is the total number of villages in the s th stratum.

2.19 For any character for a sub-sample, the state estimate was built up by adding the estimates of all the strata of the state and all-India estimate was obtained by summing the state estimates. The combined estimate was obtained by taking the arithmetic mean of the sub-sample estimates.

CHAPTER THREE

SOME FINDINGS OF THE SURVEY

3.1. The information on the distribution of ownership and agricultural holdings, extent of leasing out of owned land, fragmentation of agricultural holdings etc. are given for different states, Union Territories grouped together and for all-India in Appendix I separately for three independent sub-samples and their combined sample. In this chapter some important results based on the total sample are discussed at the national level only.

3.2. The table below shows the average area of household ownership holdings and the extent of letting out of owned land by the rural households.

Table (3.1): Average area of household ownership holdings and percentage of area leased out to total area owned - September 1961 - July 1962.

| 5 | percentage of area leased out to total area owned | 4.43 |
| 6 | average area of household ownership holding (acres) | 4.39 ^{1/} (4.97) |

3.3. The survey reveals that there were 72.5 million rural households in India owning about 317.9 million acres of land. Of the total households, about 12 percent had either no land or land less than 0.005 acre. The average size of household ownership holding was calculated at 4.39 acres which went up to 4.97 acres when households owning either no land or land less than 0.005 acre were ignored. The percentage of households leasing out land was 7 only and total area leased out by such households was about 4 percent of the total area owned by all households.

1/ The figure in bracket indicates the average area of h.h. ownership holding when households owning no land or land less than 0.005 acre were excluded.

3.4. It is worthwhile to mention that a similar survey on land holdings conducted in the eighth round of the NSS has revealed ^{2/} that during the major crop season of the agricultural year 1953-54, 23 percent of households owned either no land or land less than 0.005 acre. The average size of household ownership holding was 4.81 acres which increased to 6.25 acres when landless (i.e. households owning no land or land less than 0.005 acre) households were ignored. About 12 percent households leased out land partly or fully, the share of owned area leased out being 11 percent.

3.5. To what extent the distributions of household ownership holdings and agricultural holdings have changed during the period 1953-54 and 1960-61 is shown in table (3.2) below :

3.6. It is evident from the above table that though the land under ownership and operation remained almost the same during the period 1953-54 to 1960-61, number of holdings has increased considerably which has resulted to a sharp decrease in the average sizes of the holdings. As far as the distribution is concerned, it is noticed that about 11 per cent of households which had either no land or land less than 0.005 acre in 1953-54 have acquired some land under their ownership by 1961-62. On the other hand, in the uppermost class possessing holdings of size 50.00 acres and above, a considerable proportion of holdings has lost their existence (percentage of holdings in this class came down to 0.60 from 0.94 for ownership holdings and to 1.03 from 1.53 for agricultural holdings during the period from 8th to 17th rounds) and their contribution of area (about 6 per cent for both ownership and operation) was distributed over other size classes of holdings. Though some shift towards reducing the unevenness of the distribution is observed, the overall picture has not changed to an appreciable extent.
