SOME ASPECTS OF INDEBTEDNESS OF RURAL AND URBAN HOUSEHOLDS

(STATES AND ALL-INDIA ESTIMATES)

SECTION ONE

INTRODUCTION

1.1.0 The Debt and Investment survey carried out in the NSS 37th round (January to December, 1982) was the fourth in the series of decennial country-wide investigation on household indebtedness and investment. While the first two surveys were undertaken by the Reserve Bank of India (R.B.I.), the third decennial survey was conducted by the National Sample Survey Organisation (NSSO) as a part of its programme for 26th round (July 1971 - September 1972) in which land holdings enquiry was carried out. As in the NSS 26th round, the fourth decennial survey on debt & investment was combined with NSS programme of work relating to land holding enquiry and an integrated survey on both the subjects was carried out in the NSS 37th round during the calender year 1982. Like earlier occasions, the objective of the present survey is to get reliable estimates of the assets, liabilities, borrowings, capital formation etc. in the household sector both at state and all-India levels.

1.1.1 The first report on the subject(NSS Report No. 318) highlighting the asset and liability position of the rural and urban households as on 30.6.81 has been brought out in July 1985. The details regarding the concepts and definitions of the various terms used, methods adopted for collection and processing of data and ohter aspects of the survey have been provided in the first report. Thus for the sake of avoiding duplication, the present report does not touch upon those details.

1.2.0 Content of the report : In this report, some key estimates relating to the outstanding debt as on 30.6.1981 classified by various correlates like credit agency, duration of loan, size of outstanding loan are presented separately for each major household type (cultivators and non-cultivators in the rural sector and self-employed and others in the urban sector). The report provides estimates for all-India and individual states separately for rural, urban and rural and urban sectors combined. The estimates are based on central and state samples pooled data.

JR.

1.2.1 While the main features of the results presented in this report are discussed in Section Two, the data arranged in the following statistical tables are given in Appendix II :

(1) Distribution of sample villages/blocks and households surveyed by states.

(2) Percentage of households reporting outstanding loan (i) in cash, (ii) in kind and (iii) in cash and/or kind to all households and percentage share of cash loan and kind loan in the aggregate amount of total outstanding loan as on 30.6.81.

(3.1) Distribution of estimated number of all households classified by household asset holding and household type.

(3.2) Distribution of estimated number of households reporting outstanding cash dues as on 30.6.81 ~~to all households~~ classified by household asset holding and household type.

(3.3) Distribution of estimated amount of cash dues outstanding as on 30.6.81 classified by household asset holding and household type.

(4) Percentage of households reporting cash dues outstanding as on 30.6.81 to all households and percentage distribution of amount of cash dues outstanding over rate of interest for each major household type.

(5) Percentage of households reporting cash dues outstanding as on 30.6.81 to all households and percentage distribution of amount of cash dues outstanding over rate of interest classified by household asset holding.

(6) Percentage of households reporting cash dues to all households and average amount of cash dues outstanding as on 30.6.81 per reporting household by duration of loan and percentage distribution of ~~aggregate~~ cash dues outstanding over duration of loan classes for each major household type.

JR.

(7) Percentage of households reporting cash dues ~~outstanding~~ to all households and percentage distribution of amount of cash dues outstanding as on 30.6.81 over size group of outstanding cash dues classified by major household type.

(8) Percentage of households reporting cash dues outstanding to all households and percentage distribution of amount of cash dues outstanding as on 30.6.81 over credit agency classified by major household type.

(9) Percentage of households reporting cash dues outstanding to all households and percentage distribution of amount of cash dues outstanding over household asset holding classified by credit agency.

(10) Percentage of households reporting cash dues outstanding as on 30.6.81 to all households classified by credit agency and rate of interest for all-India.

1.2.2 Table (1) provides the sample size based on which the estimates presented in the report are built up. While all the estimates presented in tables (3.1) to (10) relate to cash dues only, the proportions of cash and kind loans to the total outstanding loans as on 30.6.81 are given in Table (2). It may be mentioned here that the cash loans were those which were taken in cash irrespective of whether repaid or contracted to be repaid in cash or in kind. Similarly, kind loans were those which were taken in kind (grain or other commodity) irrespective of whether those were repaid or yet to be repaid in cash or in kind. Tables (3.1), (3.2) and (3.3) present the aggregate estimates respectively of all households, households having outstanding cash dues as on 30.6.81 and the corresponding amount of cash dues classified by household asset holding and household type. These estimates serve as the base figures for the rates and ratios presented in tables (4) to (10) indicating various aspects of indebtedness.

JR.

1.2.3 The 'household type' in tables (3.1) to (3.3) comprises of the major groups of cultivators and non-cultivators in rural areas, the non-cultivator households being further classified into (i) agricultural labour, (ii) artisans and (iii) others. Similarly, for the urban sector, the major household types are self-employed and others (i.e. non-self-employed), although the self-employed households have been categorised by ~~the~~ occupation divisions such as (i) professionals etc., (ii) administrative workers etc. (iii) clerical and related workers, (iv) sales workers, (v) service workers, (vi) farmers, fishermen etc. (vii) production and related workers and (viii) others. Besides presenting estimates for all households, information separately for cultivator and non-cultivator households in the rural sector and for self-employed and non self-employed households in the urban sector has been provided in tables (4) and (6) to (8). Since household types are different in rural and urban areas, the combined estimates for rural and urban sectors are prepared for "all households" only.

1.2.4 It may not be out of place to mention here that in the state and all-India tables given in Appendix II, the cell figures of a table, when added up, may not agree with the figure shown against the relevant total column/line due to rounding off errors.

SECTION TWO IMPORTANT FINDINGS OF THE SURVEY

2.0.0 As has been stated earlier, the present report is the second in the series of reports on Debt & Investment Survey, NSS 37th round. While in the first report (Report no. 318) estimates of the different items of assets and also of the total assets and liabilities of the households as on 30th June, 1981 are provided, the present report gives the estimates of indebted households and the amount of indebtedness classified by various correlates at the state and all-India level in the rural, urban and rural & urban sectors combined. These estimates are based on central & state samples pooled data. In this section an attempt is made to bring out the salient features relating to different aspects of indebtedness in the household sector.

2.1.0 Aggregate outstanding debt : The aggregate amount of debt which remained outstanding on 30th June, 1981 with the households in the country (rural and urban sectors combined) was estimated as Rs. 9216 crores. Of the total outstanding debt, the share of the rural households was about 67 per cent. On the other hand, the urban households which constitued 24 per cent of all households in the country, accounted for 33 per cent of the total outstanding debt. Table (I) which gives the amount of outstanding debt by major household types for rural sector during 1961, 1971 and 1981 and for urban sector in 1981 reveals that between the two broad categories of households in the rural sector, namely, cultivators and non-cultivators as high as 93 per cent (Rs. 5737 crores) of the total debt of rural households in 1981 was accounted for by the cultivator households which constituted 76 per cent of the rural households. The remaining 7 per cent (Rs. 456 crores) was shared by the different categories of non-cultivator households, comprising of 24 per cent of all the rural households. Such differences are less marked in the urban sector. The self-employed households which formed about 33 per cent of the urban households, accounted for a little over 46 per cent of the total debt of urban households in 1981 and the remaining 54 per cent was taken by the non self-employed households, comprising of 67 per cent of all urban households.

2.1.1 The estimates of Table (I) also indicate that the aggregate amount of outstanding debt of the rural households had been increasing over the years during the last two decades. While a two-fold increase in the total debt was noticed between 1961 and 1971 (from Rs. 1956 crores to Rs. 3848 crores), the rise during the last decade was about $1\frac{1}{2}$ times (from Rs. 3848 to Rs. 6193). However, due to the rise in the prices of commodities during the intervening period, such upward trend in the aggregate amount of outstanding debt may not be of much significance. In fact, the increase in the value of total assets was proportionately more than the increase in the total debt during the decade (1971 to 1981) 1/. However, a point which needs mentioning in this regard is that the share of cultivator households in the total debt was steadily increasing over the years, from 85 per cent in 1961 to 88 per cent in 1971 and as high as 93 per cent in 1981. Such comparisons can not however be made in the case of the urban sector as the estimates of 1971 survey though tabulated were not considered to be satisfactory.

2.1.2 The total amount of debt when classified according to the cash and kind loans as shown in Table (II) reveals that only 1.3 per cent of the total debt was in kind in the rural sector and as low as 0.6 in the urban sector during 1981. Within the rural sector, not much variation is observed between the cultivators and non-cultivators, although some variation is noticed in the urban sector between the self-employed and non self-employed households.

2:1.3 The estimates presented in Table (II) indicate that at all-India level while the per-centage of loan in kind to total debt in the rural sector, increased during the first decade from 1.5 per cent in 1961 to 2.5 per cent in 1971, it declined during the last 10 years (1971-1981) from 2.5 per cent to 1.3 per cent - a level even lower than what was observed in 1961.

2.1.4 Having discussed the magnitude of debt of rural and urban households, the structure and other related aspects of indebtedness of those households classified by various correlates are analysed in the subsequent paragraphs. These features of indebtedness are based on cash debts only as about 99 per cent of the total debt was contracted in cash.

2.2.0 Pattern of interest rate : The pattern of interest rates gives an idea regarding the cost to be borne by the indebted households. In this connection, it may be mentioned that the amounts received free of interest were quite substantial as was evident from Table (III) presented here. Such loans were, generally, received from friends and relatives. However, small proportion of households reported to have received loan without any interest even from Government and other sources (refer to Table 10 of Appendix II).

3. all types	20.29	23.18	28.30	13.15	15.08	100.00

2.2.1 The survey results indicate that in the rural sector at the all-India level 11 per cent of the total outstanding cash debt were received free of any interest. Another 9 per cent were received at rates of interest upto 10 per cent. No less than 44 per cent of the outstanding cash debt did bear the rate of interest varying between 10 to 15 per cent. The interest rate of above 15 per cent was charged on the remaining 35 per cent of the total amount of cash debt, out of which as high as 22 per cent were outstanding at the rate of interest of more than 20 per cent.

2.2.2 Within the rural sector non-cultivator households enjoyed more amount of interest-free cash debt (21 per cent of total cash debt) compared to cultivator households (10 per cent only). However, in the interest slab of 10 per cent or below, the amount of cash loan, in terms of percentage to the total cash loans, outstanding to the cultivator and non-cultivator households were more or less same, the percentages being 9 and 10 respectively. On the other hand, about 46 per cent of the amount of cash debt was received by the cultivators at the rate of interest of 10-15 per cent, almost double of what was reported by their counterpart. However, the debt burden of the non-cultivators was much heavy since about 33 per cent of their cash debt remained outstanding at a very high interest rate of above 20 per cent, as against 21 per cent for the cultivator households against the same slab of interest rate.

2.2.3 Compared to rural households, urban households ~~are~~ were less heavily burdened with high rate of interest. The percentage of outstanding debt to be repaid without any interest was nearly double in the urban sector (20 per cent) than that of the rural (11 per cent). Further, in the urban sector, as high as 23 per cent of the total cash debt were outstanding at interest rate of 10 per cent or less, the corresponding percentage in the rural sector being 9 only. In the higher interest slabs namely, 10-15 per cent, 15-20 per cent and above 20 per cent, the percentage of outstanding cash debt ~~was~~ were consistently lower in the urban sector compared to rural. The respective percentages were 28, 13 and 15 in the urban sector and 44, 14 and 22 in the rural sector. Within the urban sector, percentage of cash debts to be repaid at higher rate of interest were considerably more in case of self-employed households than the non self-employed. Obviously, for the non-self-employed households, the percentage of outstanding cash debt at the lower rate of interest (10 per cent or less) was higher than that for the self-employed.

2.2.4 It may be of interest to compare the distribution of the amount of debt over different interest slabs as obtained from the present survey (1981) with that of the 26th round survey(1971-72). In Table (IV), these distributions are presented for the cultivator households of the rural sector at the all-India level. It may be mentioned here that these two estimates are not strictly comparable as over the decade, considerable changes have taken place both in the general price index and also in the structure of interest rates. Also, barring the tailends, the middle slabs of interest rates are not exactly identical in both the distributions. Nevertheless, the comparison may be taken as a rough indicator of the change in the cost of borrowing.

2.2.5 The estimates presented in Table (IV) indicate a further limitation in ~~adhering to the~~ making strict comparison of the results at two points of time. While interest rate had been specified for all debts in the estimates of 37th round, in about 10 per cent cases, the interest rate was not recorded in the 26th round survey. Nevertheless it is observed that compared to NSS 26th round, proportionately more amount were outstanding at 'nil' rate of interest in NSS 37th round, the percentage share being 6. and 10 respectively for NSS 26th round and NSS 37th round. It is interesting to note that the percentage share of both the lowest slab (excluding nil class) and the highest slab of interest in the aggregate amount of cash dues outstanding had gone down during the last decade with the consequential increase in the middle two slabs. The increase was definitely steep in the class of 10 per cent to 15 per cent. While 46 per cent of the total amount were o tstanding at this slab in 1981, only about 27 per cent were outstanding in 1971 even at a wider range of interest rates, varying between $9\frac{3}{8}$ per cent to $18\frac{3}{4}$ per cent.

It seems, during the last 10 years, there is a upward shift in the lower ranges of interest rate. Only 9 per cent of the total cash dues were reported to be outstanding under the interest rate of "upto 10 per cent" in 1981 as against 25 per cent under the rate "upto $9\frac{3}{8}$ per cent" observed in 1971. The important finding of the survey is that of the total cash dues outstanding, 8 per cent were contracted at a very high interest rate of 25 per cent & above in 1981 while 10 years back, the corresponding percentage was 15.

2.2.6 The high rate of interest retards growth and increase the burden of the indebted households even if such loans are taken for productive purposes. More often than not, the high rate of interest forces the households particularly the poorer section of them to be in a vicious cycle of perpetual indebtedness. Thus, taking the asset holding as a measure of living, the distribution of amount of debt over different slabs of interest for each group of asset holding is presented in Table (V) for rural and urban households. The estimates of Table (V), reveals that in rural sector, worst affected were the households in the lower asset groups. While as high as 57 per cent of the total cash dues of the households with a meagre asset holding of upto Rs. 1000 were outstanding at the highest rate of interest of above 20 per cent, only about 2 per cent of the cash dues of the households having assets worth Rs. 5 lakhs and above were reported under the same slab of interest. The households of the next three asset groups, namely, Rs. 1000 to 5000, Rs. 5000 to 10,000 and Rs. 10,000 to 20,000 exhibited similar pattern as that of the lowest asset group of upto Rs. 1000 by reporting maximum amount of outstanding loan (viz, 48, 36 and 33 per cents) in the highest interest slab of more than 20 per cent. However, the households in the higher asset groups of Rs. 20,000 and above reported maximum amount of loan with interest rate of 10 to 15 per cent.

2.2.7 The pattern of interest rate in the urban sector was somewhat different from the rural sector. It is of interest to note that the incidence of interest-free loan was maximum in the lowest three asset groups of upto Rs. 10,000. The next in importance to these asset groups was the highest interest slab of above 20 per cent. Another feature worth noting is that compared to the rural sector, the percentage of the amount of outstanding loan in the urban sector was lower in the highest slab of interest rate (above 20 per cent) and was higher in the lowest slab of interest rate (upto 10 per cent) uniformly for all the asset groups.

2.2.8 So long the pattern of interest rate has been dealt with at the all-India level. To analyse the regional variations in the pattern of interest rates, if any, Table (VI) presented here indicates the percentage distribution of amount of cash loans outstanding over different slabs of interest rates for seventeen states separately for rural and urban sectors. The estimates of Table (VI) reveals that the pattern of interest rate differs widely among the states both in the rural and urban sectors. In the rural sector, the percentage share of the amount of cash debt carrying interest rate of above 20 per cent to total cash debt was highest in Andhra Pradesh (39.63%) closely followed by Rajasthan (34.38%), Uttar Pradesh (31.04%) and Tamil Nadu (30.30%). Bihar and Madhya Pradesh also recorded a large percentage share of 27.60 and 27.24 respectively. On the contrary, the lowest percentage was observed in Himachal Pradesh (1.58%), the next in order being Jammu and Kashmir (2.45%), Maharashtra (4.65%), Karnataka (6.26%), Assam (6.81%), Gujarat (6.91%) and Kerala (8.68%). Among these states, Jammu & Kashmir and Assam received as high as 74.91 and 65.13 per cent of their outstanding cash loans free of interest. Even in the urban sector, Andhra Pradesh was at the top with 27.07 per cent of cash dues outstanding at the interest rate of "above 20 per cent. Kerala which reported a low percentage in the rural secotr was found to have the second highest figure (26.28%) under the highest slab of interest rate followed by Tamil Nadu (21.24%) and West Bengal (20.48%). On the other hand, Jammu & Kashmir, Assam and Himachal Pradesh did not report any outstanding loan carrying such a high interest rate of above 20 per cent. However, in Himachal Pradesh substantially high percentage (47.92%) of outstanding cash dues were contracted at the interest rates varying between 15 and 20 per cent.

2.2.9 Like all-India, the state estimates also reveal lower percentage share of cash debt in higher interest slabs in the urban sector as compared to rural sector. The better picture emerging in respect of the debt position of the urban households might be due to the fact that the institutional credit agencies like government departments, co-operative societies etc., commercial banks, insurance and provident fund bodies etc. were comparatively easy to approach in the urban sector than in the rural. The institutional agencies generally charge less interest rate in comparison to the non-institutional agencies. It may not be out of place to mention here that the estimates presented in Table(10) of Appendix II show that some households reported debt at different rates of interest from "relatives and friends" although according to the concepts adopted in the survey, loans taken from the "relatives and friends" should bear no interest at all. However, if a relative or a friend charged any interest, the credit agency for such loans should have been shown as 'agricultural money lender', 'trader' etc. depending upon the profession of the relative or the friend. Thus it appears that some errors were committed in reporting the credit agency codes. However, such cases being very few as apparent from the estimates of Table(10) of Appendix II, the distribution of indebted households over credit agencies may not vitiate to any appreciable extent.

2.3.0 Distribution of cash debt by institutional and non-institutional credit agencies : In view of the fact that the institutional ~~credit~~ credit agencies have an impact on the cost of borrowing, an attempt is made to examine the role of institutional and non-institutional agencies in providing loan to different segments of households in the rural and urban sectors. For long the household sector particularly of rural India was exploited by the traditional credit agencies like agricultural money lender, professional money lender, land lords and traders etc. It seems that their stranglehold was slowly loosening during the last two decades as the institutional credit agencies were making steady inroads into the rural scene. As is seen from Table (VII), the percentage share of institutional credit agencies in the cash dues outstanding to the rural households at the all-India level jumped from 17 in 1961 to 29 in 1971 and 61 in 1981. But the phenomenal rise in the share of institutional credit agencies between 1961 and 1971 was noticed in the case of cultivator households only and there was no visible sign of progress with the non-cultivator households. However, during the last decade (1971-1981) there had been a two fold increase (from 32 per cent to 63 per cent) in the share of institutional credit agencies in the case of cultivators, while for the non-cultivators, the increase was even more than three times (from 11 per cent to 37 per cent).

Table (VII) : Percentage of cash debt outstanding to institutional and non-institutional credit agencies to total outstanding cash debt.

2.3.1 The estimates for the urban sector available only for the current survey of 1981 indicate (Table VIII) that the extent of institutional loan (60%) was almost the same as that of the rural sector (61%). However, in the urban sector, the share of 'relatives and friends' advancing loan free of interest was 15% as against 9% in the rural sector (Ref. : Table 8 of Appendix II). Hence, the traditional money lending agencies like agricultural money lender, professional money lender etc. were found to have a little more share in the rural sector (30%) compared to urban sector (25%). Within the urban sector, not much difference is observed between the two household types i.e. self-employed and non self-employed households, the percentage share of institutional credit agencies being 58 and 62 respectively for the above two categories of households.

2.3.2 The distribution of institutional and non-institutional loans contracted by rural and urban households for some states is presented in Table (IX). The estimates indicate that of the total outstanding cash dues, the share of institutional agencies increased substantially during the last 10 years in the rural sector of all the states except Assam. But the strength of the institutional agencies as judged form its share in the oustanding cash dues, varied from state to state. While Maharashtra (86.4%), Orissa (81.9%), Kerala (78.6%), Karnataka (78.2%) and Haryana(75.8%) provided more than three-fourths of the total outstanding cash debt through institutional credit agencies, not even 50% of the amount of loans were contracted through the institutional credit agencies in Assam (30.6%), Andhra Pradesh (40.9%), Rajasthan (40.9%), Jammu & Kashmir (43.5%), Tamil Nadu (44.3%) and Bihar (47.2%).

2.3.3 In the urban sector, the performance of institutional agencies was best in Gujarat (86.3%) followed by Orissa (83.1%), Kerala (77.2%), Assam (77.0%), Jammu & Kashmir (74.7%) and Madhya Pradesh (71.5%). In contrast, the percentage share of institutional agencies in the aggregate cash dues outstanding was only 25.9 in Andhra Pradesh and 47.2 in Rajasthan. In all other states, the percentage share varied between 56.0 to 66.3 .

2.3.4 The institutional credit agencies, no-doubt plays an important role in reducing the household's burden of heavy interest rate. Unfortunately, their dominance appears to be least among those who, probably, need their service most. It has been seen earlier (para 2.2.6) that the percentage of cash amount outstanding at the very high rates of interest was comparatively more among the households of lower asset groups than among those of the higher asset groups. The reason is, probably, not far to seek. Table (X) which gives the percentage distribution of the amount of debt contracted from institutional and non-institutional credit agencies for each household asset holding at all-India level, reveals that the households of the lower asset groups were heavily dependent on the non-institutional credit agencies both in the rural and urban sectors. In the rural sector, the share of debt from the institutional credit agencies was only 9 per cent in the case of lowest asset group of "upto Rs. 1,000" as against 95 per cent in the highest asset group of "Rs. 5 lakhs and above", the corresponding percentages in the two asset groups in the urban sector being 5 and 67 respectively. In fact the proportion of cash debt contracted from the institutional credit agencies had increased consistently with the increase in the household asset group except in the case of asset group of "Rs. 5 lakhs and above" in the urban sector. The tendency of the households of lower asset groups to avail more loan from the non-institutional agencies might, perhaps, be attributed to the fact that these households were unable to arrange suitable security for obtaining loans from institutional credit agencies.

2.3.5 Having studied the performance of the institutional and non-institutional credit agencies in general, the relative position of the different credit agencies within the institutional and non-institutional agencies is shown in Table (XI). It is observed from Table (XI) that at the all India level among the institutional credit agencies, the Co-operative societies and the Commercial Banks were the two most important agencies both in the rural and urban sectors. While in the rural sector both the agencies, together accounted for 57 per cent of the outstanding cash debt, each of the agencies having almost equal share, only 40 per cent of the total outstanding cash debt, in the urban sector were lent by the Co-operative societies and the Commercial banks, their respective shares being 18 and 22 per cent. The government departments came next in the urban sector, contributing 15 per cent of the outstanding cash dues, as against 4 per cent in the rural sector. Among the non-institutional credit agencies, money lenders - both agricultural and professional were found to be equally important sources of finance in the rural sector, their respective share being 9 per cent and 8 per cent. In the urban sector 'professional money lenders' with the share of 9 per cent was the most important non-institutional credit agency followed by traders (5%) and agricultural money lenders (4%).

2.3.6 To assess the changes in the relative position of the different crdit agencies over the years, the results of NSS 37th round and of NSS 26th round are presented in Table (XII) for the cultivator households in the rural sector at all-India level. As is evident from the table, the most remarkable performance during the last decade (1971-1981) was of commercial banks etc. While the share of co-operative societies increased from 22% to 30%, the rise in the case of commercial bank was 29% from as low as 2%. Opening of large number of branches in the rural areas by various commercial banks and introduction of rural bank scheme might have helped the commercial banks grow in a big way. Interestingly, the share of government departments did fall from 7% in 1971 to 4% in 1981. The percentage share of all the non-institutional credit agencies recorded a sharp decline during the last 10 years. But the decline was steepest for the credit agency "agricultural money lenders", the contribution of which came down to 8 per cent in 1981 from 23 per cent in 1971.

2.4.0 Distribution of outstanding cash dues by duration of loan : An analysis of the cash dues which remained outstanding for varying periods of time throws light on the protracted debt burden of the households of different categories. The amount of outstanding cash dues as on 30th June 1981 comprised of fully or partly unpaid borrowings accumulated over the years. Table (XIII) gives the percentage distribution of the amount of outstanding cash debt over duration of loan classified by major household types at all-India level. It is seen that in the rural sector 35 and 20 per cent of the total cash debt were outstanding for a short period of less than 1 year and 1-2 yrs. respectively. At the same time the cash debt which remained outstanding for a relatively long period of 5-10 years accounted for no less than 18 per cent of the total outstanding cash dues, although the share for the duration group 10 years & above was observed to be about 2 per cent only. As far as cultivator and non-cultivator households of rural India are concerned, not much difference was observed in the pattern of the distribution of the amount of debt over duration slabs of loan, although non-cultivators reported slightly higher proportion of debt amounts against the duration slab of less than 2 years, than the cultivators. It may not be out of place to mention here that an amount might remain outstanding for a long period of time owing to the inability of the households to repay the loan within the stipulated period or a loan might be contracted on a long term basis to be repaid over a number of years.

2.4.1 The survey data reveal that the pattern of duration of outstanding loan in the urban sector is more or less similar to that of the rural sector. In the urban sector also the variation in the percentage distribution of outstanding cash dues over duration of loan between the two major household types - "self-employed" and "others" was not found to be appreciable, although the non-self-employed households seemed to have a little edge over the self-employed in the sense that comparatively less proportion of their cash dues remained outstanding for a longer period of time.

2.4.2 The analysis of ~~the~~ similar data at the state level reflects wider variation among the states. It is seen from Table (XIV) that dues outstanding for a ~~long~~ period of 10 years & above, generally, formed a small proportion of the total cash dues. However, in the rural sector while Assam (2.9%) and Jammu & Kashmir (7.5%) recorded less than 10 per cent of the cash dues as outstanding for a fairly long period of 5 years and more, over 25 per cent of the cash dues were outstanding for the said period in Maharashtra (34.8%), Gujarat (28.2%) and Tamil Nadu (26.8%). In the urban sector, more than 10 per cent of the cash dues remained outstanding for a period of 5 years and more in all the states except Himachal Pradesh (6.0%). While the said percentage was observed to be above 30 in Haryana (39.7%), Kerala (35.6%), Andhra Pradesh (33.6%), Bihar (32.2%) and Uttar Pradesh (31.3%), it was between 10 to 20 in the remaining states.

2.4.3 It is interesting to note the changes in the percentage distribution of cash dues over the duration of loan which took place in the rural sector of India during the last two decades as revealed from Table (XV). During the period between 1962 and 1971, the share of the cash dues outstanding for a long period of 10 years and above declined from 6 per cent in 1962 to little over 1 per cent in 1971. So also the share of dues outstanding for a short period of less than 1 year which came down from 38 per cent to 35 per cent. But the share remained more or less the same for the dues that remained outstanding for a fairly long period of 5-10 years, the percentage being 9 in 1962 as against 10 in 1971. On the other hand, the percentage of the dues which was outstanding for the ~~varying~~ period of 1-5 years recorded an increase during the decade. The trend appeared to be geared in the reverse direction during the last decade i.e. between 1971 and 1981. In contrast to the change in the pattern of duration of loan during 1962-1971, the proportion of cash dues outstanding exhibited considerable increase from 10 per cent and 1 per cent in 1971 to 18 per cent and 2 per cent in 1981 respectively for the duration slabs of 5-10 years and 10 years & above, while the percentage share ~~reported~~ registered a decline for the period of 1-5 years during the last 10 years.

2.5.0 Size of the outstanding cash dues : The average cash dues outstanding per reporting household which was estimated as Rs. 3365 and Rs. 5972 respectively for the rural and urban sectors at the all-India level indicates the general level of indebtedness in the household sector. But the percentage distribution of indebted households and of amounts of cash dues outstanding over the size group of outstanding loan reflects the burden of debt on different groups of households, as could be seen from Table (XVI). It is observed that about one-fourth of the indebted households in the rural sector at all-India level was burdened with outstanding loan of size of Rs. 2000 - 5000. Next in importance were the size groups of "upto Rs. 500" and "Rs. 1000 - 2000", each reporting 20 per cent of the indebted households. In fact, more than half of the indebted households(58%) were found to have outstanding cash dues of size less than Rs. 2000.

2.5.1 As expected, between the two major household types in the rural sector namely, cultivators and non-cultivators, the proportion of indebted households having small size loan was higher among the non-cultivator households compared to the cultivator households. While for the non-cultivators, the debt group of "upto Rs.500", accommodated the biggest chunk of indebted households (33%), the most important size class for the cultivators was Rs. 2000 to 5000 which reported about 26 per cent of the indebted households. However, a different picture emerges when the percentage distribution of the amount of outstanding cash dues over different slabs of debt is considered for the two categories of households in the rural sector. Percentage of the amount of debt in the size group of Rs.2000 - 5000 to total debt was found to be highest for both the cultivators and non-cultivators, constituting 35 per cent for non-cultivators and 22 per cent for cultivators. Equally important was the size group of Rs. 5000 - 10,000 which accounted for 21 per cent of the total outstanding cash dues for cultivators and 20 per cent for non-cultivators. As was expected, larger amounts of debt (Rs.5000 or more) which remained outstanding to the cultivator households, contributed as large as 67 per cent of the total amount of debt as against only 36 per cent in case of non-cultivator households.

2.5.2 Like rural sector, the highest concentration (31 percent) of the indebted households was noticed in the size group of Rs.2000 - 5000 in the urban sector. However, in the urban sector, proportionately more households were found to have outstanding cash dues of bigger size. As against 6 per cent in the rural sector, 14 per cent of the indebted households in the urban sector had outstanding cash dues exceeding Rs. 10,000. Between the two major household types - self-employed and non-self-employed, self-employed category reported larger percentage of indebted households having outstanding cash dues exceeding Rs. 5000 10,000 in comparison to that of the non-self-employed. On the other hand, the percentage of indebted households having small-sized dues of Rs. 1000 or below was of ~~the same~~ order (24 per cent) for both the major household types. Although high concentration of the indebted households was noticed in the lower size groups, the share in the aggregate amount of outstanding cash loan was observed to be more for the higher size groups of outstanding loan. Another feature to be noted is that the amount of debt ~~over~~ by debt sizes revealed marked variation between self-employed and non-self-employed households. While the amount of debt falling in the size group of Rs.50,000 or more accounted for about 43 per cent of the total debt in case of self-employed households, only about 12 per cent were the share of the non-self-employed households in the same size group of debt.

2.5.3 Further, the sizes of cash dues which remained outstanding with the households were found to have a direct relation with the asset groups to which the households belonged. It can be observed from Table 7 (all-India of Appendix II) which presents the two way distribution of the indebted households and the amount of debt classified by asset holding and the debt size that the proportions/shares of the cash dues of lower debt sizes were substantial for lower asset holdings, but they decreased with the increase in ~~the~~ asset holding. Even with this trend, the indebted households belonging to the lowest two asset groups (i.e. upto Rs. 1000 and Rs.1000 - 5000) in particular appeared to have a heavy debt burden in excess of their asset holding as evident from the estimates of Table (XVII) presented here. Table (XVII) gives the percentage distribution of indebted households and of amounts of cash dues outstanding over debt sizes for six household asset groups. For the purpose of analysing the data, the debt sizes as presented in Table (7) of Appendix II were clubbed together to form two broad groups as mentioned below :

(i) size of the debt not exceeding the upper limit of the respective asset group

(ii) size of the debt exceeding the upper limit of the respective asset group

Note : A = size of the debt not exceeding the upper limit of the respective asset groups

B = size of the debt exceeding the upper limit of the respective asset groups

2.5.4 Although majority of the indebted households belonging to each asset holding could restrict the amount of their outstanding loans within the upper limits of the respective value of the asset holdings, an increasing trend in the proportion of such indebted households over the asset groups was noticed in both the rural and urban sectors. The said percentage in the rural sector was 83.95 for the household asset holding "upto Rs.1000" as against 99.91 for the group "Rs.20,000 to 50,000" and 100.00 for the group "Rs.50,000 to 1,00,000". Similarly, in the urban sector, the respective percentages in the lowest and highest asset groups were 61.44 and 99.45.

2.5.5 Table (XVII) also reveals that the trend remained the same even if instead of indebted households the amount of total outstanding cash dues was considered. In fact, in the lowest asset group, the size of the debt exceeding the upper limit of the asset group accounted for 55 per cent of the total dues in the rural sector and as high as 78 per cent in the urban sector. The situation though bleak ~~concerning~~ was comparatively less acute in the case of households belonging to the next higher asset group of Rs.1000 to 5000 in the rural sector and Rs. 1000 to 5000 and Rs. 5000 to 10,000 in the urban sector. It is significant to note that in each asset group the proportion share of the ~~outstanding~~ amount of dues exceeding the upper limit of the respective asset group was more in the urban sector than in ~~that of~~ the rural indicating that the burden of debt was more on the urban households compared to their counterpart in the rural sector.

2.5.6 The foregoing analysis leads to the conclusion that the burden of debt was heaviest on the households belonging to the lowest two asset groups i.e. "upto Rs.1000" and "Rs.1000-5000" both in the rural and urban sectors. Evidently such households had very limited capacity to repay the ~~outstanding~~ loans as otherwise magnitude of debt would not have assumed such a big size beyond the value of their asset holdings.

Appendix - I

A NOTE ON SAMPLE DESIGN AND ESTIMATION PROCEDURE

3.1 Sample Design

3.1.1 Broad design : The broad sample design was stratified with two stage sampling in each stratum. The first stage units in the rural sector were 1981 census villages in most districts, but in a few cases where either 1981 Census was not conducted or the frame of census villages could not be procured in time, 1971 Census villages were used. In the urban areas, the first stage units were generally blocks formed in the NSS urban frame survey in all towns except those places which were declared as urban areas for the first time in 1981 Census. In such cases, the Census (1981) blocks were the first stage units. The second stage units were households in both rural and urban sectors.

3.1.2 Regions and strata : Each State/Union territory was divided into a few agro-economic regions by grouping contiguous districts similar in respect of population density and crop pattern. In Gujarat, some districts were split for this purpose, considering the location of dry areas and the distribution of tribal population in the state. The total number of regions thus formed all over India (excluding areas not covered by NSS) was 77. "Basic strata" for sampling in rural areas were formed within each region. Each district with less than 1.5 million 1971 census rural population constituted a basic stratum by itself except in Gujarat and Arunachal Pradesh where some districts with less than the above population were divided into two or more basic strata. Districts having more than 1.5 million rural population were divided into a number of basic strata (depending upon the population) by grouping contiguous tehsils similar with respect to crop pattern and density of rural population. Generally, each urban stratum was a district or a group of districts within the same region excepting the districts of Ahmedabad, Bangalore and Kanpur. In each of these cases, the district was divided into two strata, the city itself making up one stratum and the rest of the urban areas the other. With this arrangement, each city with 1971 census population above 1 million constituted a separate stratum, the remaining cities being whole districts. Those cities were Bombay, Calcutta, Delhi, Hyderabad and Madras. The total number of rural and urban strata were 497 and 363 respectively.

3.1.3 Allocation : The state level allocations were determined on the basis of their investigator strength available and the expected work load per investigator. These were further allocated to strata in proportion to the total number of 1981 census House-listing blocks in rural sector and the total number of blocks in the frame in urban sector(in the case of Assam, rural allocation was proportional to 1971 census rural population). These were adjusted to the field strength of each FOD sub-region. Final stratum level allocations were rounded off to multiples of two.

3.1.4 Sampling of villages : The sample villages were selected with probability proportional to number of House-listing blocks and with replacement. In the case of villages selected from 1971 census frame, sample villages were selected with probability proportional to size and with replacement where size was related to 1971 census population. Selection was done in the form of two independent sub-samples.

3.1.5 Revenue village selection : When the sampled census village was not identifiable, one of the following procedures was adopted according to the situation : (a) all revenue villages contained wholly or partly in the census village were surveyed as one unit or (b) the revenue village which contained the selected census village and possibly other census villages was wholly surveyed.

3.1.6 Sampling of blocks : The urban frame survey (UFS) blocks of UFS-1977 scheme wherever available and UFS blocks of 1972-77 period for the remaining towns and 1981 census frame in case of new towns constitued the sampling frame for selection of blocks. In each urban stratum sample blocks were selected by simple random sampling without replacement in the form of two independent sub-samples.

3.1.7 Hamlet-group and sub-block selection : In case the present population of a sample village or block was 1200 or more, it was divided into two or more equal (in terms of population) sub-divisions (called hamlet groups in the case of villages and sub-blocks in the case of urban blocks), the number of sub-divisions depending on the population of the village or block at the time of the investigator's visit. One of them was selected at random for survey.

3.1.8 Sampling of households (rural) : The households of each sample village were divided into four sub-strata, by their area of land possessed. Households possessing less than 0.05 acres formed sub-stratum-1. The remaining households were ranked first by their area of land possessed and then divided into three sub-strata by determining two boundary points A and B for each village such that the total area of land possessed was nearly the same for each sub-stratum (households with land possessed : (i) from 0.05 to A; (ii) A to B and (iii) above B constituted respectively sub-stratum 2, 3 and 4). Two households were selected from each sub-stratum circular systematically with a random start. The households of sub-stratum 1 were arranged by their means of livelihood (agricultural labour, artisan and others) before sample selection.

3.1.9 Sampling of households (urban) : The households of a sample block was divided into three sub-strata by their monthly per capita expenditure. The boundary points for them were fixed at state level. Two households were selected circular systematically in each sub-stratum. In both rural and urban sectors, the same sample households were surveyed in both the visits.

3.2 Estimation Procedure

3.2.1 Notations :

s	:	subscript for sth stratum.
t	:	subscript for tth sub-stratum (within a village/block)
i	:	subscript for ith sample village/block.
j	:	subscript for jth sample household.
L	:	total number of rural/urban strata in the state.

z : village size (used for sampling)
Z : total size of a rural stratum.
N : total number of blocks in a urban stratum.
D : number of hamlet-groups/sub-blocks formed.
m : number of surveyed villages/blocks including depopulated and zero cases.
H : total number of households in a sub-stratum.
h : number of surveyed households in a sub-stratum.
f : adjustment factor for survey of a revenue village.
y : value of characteristic.
Y : total of y at the state level.
$\hat{Y}$: estimate of Y from the sample.

The expressions for $\hat{Y}$ are given in the next part.

3.2.2 Rural sector :

$$\hat{Y} = \sum_{s=1}^{L} \frac{Z_s}{m_s} \sum_{i=1}^{m_s} \frac{D_{si}}{f_{si} z_{si}} \sum_{t=1}^{4} \frac{H_{sit}}{h_{sit}} \sum_{j=1}^{h_{sit}} y_{sitj}$$

Where H_{sit} was the total number of households in the t^{th} sub-stratum of the village and h_{sit} was the corresponding number of surveyed households available for tabulation.

3.2.3 Urban sector :

$$\hat{Y} = \sum_{s=1}^{L} \frac{N_s}{m_s} \sum_{i=1}^{m_s} D_{si} \sum_{t=1}^{3} \frac{H_{sit}}{h_{sit}} \sum_{j=1}^{h_{sit}} y_{sitj}$$

3.2.4 Estimates of ratios : Let Y and X be the totals of the characteristics y and x at the state/all-India level. Then the estimates of the ratio R = Y/X will be obtained as $\hat{R} = \frac{\hat{Y}}{\hat{X}}$ where $\hat{Y}$ and $\hat{X}$ are unbiased estimates of Y and X respectively.

3.2.5 Sub-sample wise estimates : Sub-sample wise estimates were computed on the basis of villages and blocks surveyed on the concerned sub-sample. Thus, m_s in the above formula would mean the number of surveyed villages/blocks in the concerned sub-sample of the s^{th} stratum. The combined estimate of the stratum total based on the whole sample was computed as the weighted mean of the sub-sample-wise estimates, weights being number of sample villages/blocks surveyed in the concerned sub-samples. The combined estimate of the state (or all-India) total of the characteristic was obtained as the sum of the estimates of relevant stratum totals. However, the combined estimates of a ratio was calculated as the ratio of the combined estimates of numerator and denominator at the state/all-India level.
