THE NATIONAL SAMPLE SURVEY
THIRTY THIRD ROUND : JULY 1978 - JUNE 1979
UNORGANISED MANUFACTURE ; NON-DIRECTORY ESTABLISHMENTS AND NON-ACCOUNT ENTERPRISES

SECTION ONE

INTRODUCTION

1.1 The National Sample Survey Organisation in its 33rd round of Survey (July 1978 - June 1979) undertook an enquiry on unorganised manufacturing enterprises. The unorganised manufacturing enterprise for the purpose of the 33rd round enquiry was defined as enterprise not registered under section 2 m(i) and 2m(ii) of the Indian Factories Act, 1948. In other words, manufacturing enterprises using power and employing less than 10 workers and also those not using power and employing less than 20 workers constituted the unorganised sector.

1.2 The survey covered the whole of India excepting Sikkim, Ladakh district of Jammu and Kashmir, rural areas of Nagaland, Chandigarh and a few other tehsils, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Lakshadwip, Dadra and Nagar Haveli.

1.3 In the last quarter of 1977 an economic Census was conducted throughout India by the Central Statistical Organisation with the object of collecting some broad information about the non-agricultural enterprises. In the event of the availability of of the economic Census data for the entire country, the Governing Council of the National Sample Survey Organisation decided to devote the subsequent rounds (33rd and 34th) of the NSS to the collection of detailed information on non-agricultural enterprises which could be deemed as the follow-up surveys of the economic Census. Accordingly, the thirty third round was confined to the survey on non-registered manufacturing enterprises only whereas thirty fourth round was devoted to the remaining non-agricultural enterprises.

1.4 In the Economic Census, the enterprises were classified into two groups, namely, (1) own-account enterprises - those enterprises which did not have any hired worker and (2) establishments - those enterprises which had at least one hired worker. Establishments were further split into two categories - namely (a) non-directory establishments - those establishments having total number of workers less than six (including household workers) and having annual output/turnover/receipts less than Rupees One lakh and (b) directory establishments - those establishments with six or more workers and/or having annual output/turnover/receipts Rupees One lakh or more. The NSS in its 33rd round covered the non-directory establishments and own-account enterprises in respect of the manufacturing and/or repairing activities. The rest of the non-factory sector i.e. directory establishments was undertaken in a separate survey by the Central Statistical Organisation. Both these surveys taken together constituted the non-registered sector.

1.5 Prior to 33rd round, NSS in its 29th round (July 1974 - June 1975) undertook a household enquiry on self employment in non-agricultural enterprises. The universe of self-employed households was constituted by those households, any of whose member was engaged in any of the non-agricultural industries either as own account worker or as employer with the given employment ceiling of five or less hired workers. However, for manufacture and repair services the employment ceiling was made inapplicable and the whole of the unregistered sector of manufacturing industry was brought under the coverage of the enquiry.

1.6 The schedule of enquiry covered all the major features of non-directory establishments and own account enterprises. Besides the identification particulars and classificatory characteristics of the enterprise, information on basic characteristics of the enterprise, namely fixed capital, working capital and investment, outstanding loan, employment and emoluments, input and output were collected in the survey. In order to get some idea regarding the nature of link which the entrepreneur had with the immediate purchaser of their products and the supplier of their inputs, attempts were made to collect data on the manner of purchase of raw materials from different agencies and disposal of products by specific terms of sale. A summary block was also provided in the schedule of enquiry for recording data of important items of the enterprise by transferring the relevant information appearing in the different blocks of the schedule with a view to expediting the tabulation of such items.

1.7 This report, which is based on the data collected in the summary block of the schedule of enquiry of the non-directory establishments and own account enterprises, presents some selected results for rural and urban areas of the states of Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Bihar, Gujarat, Haryana and Himachal Pradesh. Tables presented are mostly aggregate estimates for selected items at 2 or 3-digit levels of industry codes. With a view to identifying the industries associated with handicrafts, the industry codes for NIC-1970 for manufacturing units have slightly been modified at 4-digit level. A separate table for those industries have also been appended in this report.

1.8 In this survey some basic change in the approach was introduced for the first time. In the earlier rounds of NSS 'household' was the ultimate sampling unit for socio-economic enquiries and the enterprises were identified and contacted through household approach. In this survey, enterprises were contacted directly through the houses and the premises in which they were located and information was collected from them. Also, the definitions of household and non-household type of enterprises were changed in this survey. If the manufacturing activity was carried out in the same premises where the owner household had resided or the activity was carried out without any fixed premises then the enterprise was considered as 'household type'. If the activity was carried out at other fixed premises by a single household, or by more than one household, or by any other form of institutional arrangement, public or private, then the enterprise was considered as 'non-household' type. Non-household enterprises referred to both institutional and non-institutional type of arrangement. In earlier rounds of NSS, location did not play any part in deciding the type of enterprises and the non-household enterprise referred to institutional type of activity only, namely, the enterprises run by co-operative, trust etc.

1.9 All the states and union territories except Chandigarh participated in this round. Gujarat and Kerala participated on a double matching basis, Delhi on triple-matching basis, Jammu and Kashmir double-matching in rural areas, Maharashtra double-matching in urban areas, Goa-Daman-Diu four times in rural and three times in urban areas and other states and union territories on equal matching basis.

1.10 The survey started in July, 1978 and continued upto June, 1979 covering a period of one year. The results presented in this report are based on central sample data only.

SECTION TWO

CONCEPTS AND DEFINITIONS

2.1 Some of the important concepts and definitions followed in this survey are given below :

2.2 Enterprise : An enterprise is an undertaking which is engaged in some gainful activity of production of goods and services by using the members of the household and/or hiring outside labour.

2.3 Household/Non-household enterprise : An enterprise may be of household type and non-household type. If the entrepreneurial activity of the household is carried out in the same premises where it resides or the activity is carried out without any fixed premises by a single household or by more than one household jointly then the enterprise is considered as household type. However, if two or more households run an enterprise jointly in the premises where they reside, the enterprise is categorised as non-household type. So also the activity of a single household or a group of households is treated as non-household type if the same is carried out in fixed premises other than those in which the household/group of households reside. The other types of enterprises run by institutions, public or private, belong to non-household type.

2.4 Premises : Premises are the part of the census house occupied by a unit/household. If the activity of the enterprise carried out by a unit/household extends beyond boundaries of a single house to a group of contiguous houses and in rare cases a group of houses in very close proximity, the enterprise is considered to be located within single premises. Otherwise, the enterprise is taken to be carried out in other premises.

2.5 Own account enterprise : An own-account enterprise for the purpose of this enquiry is an undertaking engaged in manufacturing activity or repairing services with the help of household labour only i.e. without any hired worker.

2.6 Establishment : An establishment for the purpose of this survey is defined as an enterprise engaged in manufacturing activity or repair services which is carried out with the assistance of at least one paid worker on a fairly regular basis.

2.7 Employees : It refers to total employment and includes all categories of workers, paid or unpaid, engaged in manufacturing activity of the enterprise.

2.8 Fixed assets : Fixed assets include land, building, machinery, transport and other goods, new or used, that have a normal economic life of more than one year. All such assets of the enterprise regardless of their use - whether for production, transportation or for providing dwelling or recreation facilities to labour engaged - are included under fixed assets.

2.9 Working Capital : This consists of such items as raw material, fuel and lubricant, stock of semi finished and finished products and cash in hand and/bank/ at balance of amounts receivable and payable on date of survey.

2.10 Input : The value of raw materials, electricity, fuel, lubricants and other auxiliary materials consumed, and services purchased, maintenance and other expenses incurred by the enterprise for production process are considered as input.

2.11 Output : The value of products and by-products manufactured by the enterprise together with the value of industrial servicing rendered, sale of electricity produced and other receipts are taken as output.

2.12 Value added : Value added as reported is the difference between the total output and total input and is not net of depreciation.

SECTION THREE

SAMPLE DESIGN AND ESTIMATION PROCEDURE

Sample Design

3.1 Introduction : The total sample of the thirty third round consisted of two parts, - (i) the main sample of enumeration blocks of the Economic Census which had been selected afresh, and (ii) the repeat sample which was a sub-sample from the 29th round sample of villages and blocks. The salient features of the sample design of the two parts are described in the following paragraphs.

3.2 Design for the main sample

3.2.1 Broad Design : A stratified two-stage design was adopted with enumeration blocks (EB's) of the 1977 Economic Census as the primary sampling units and manufacturing enterprises as the ultimate sampling units. The rural/urban areas of each district formed a rural/urban stratum.

3.2.2 Allocation : The total sample size for a State had been determined on the basis of total number of investigators available in that state and the norm of work-load per investigator. The norm had been taken as 250 units, non-directory manufacturing establishments (NDME) and own account enterprises (OAE) taken together. Accounting for 200 units in the main sample and taking the ratio of NDME to own account enterprises to be about 1 to 4, the number of NDME's which could be canvassed by each investigator worked out to about 40. The total sample size on this basis had been allocated to the rural and urban sectors and then to the districts in proportion to total number of NDME's. These allocations were regarded as district quotas for rural and urban sectors.

3.2.3 Sampling of enumeration blocks (EB's) : Enumeration blocks (EB's) were formed in both rural and urban areas during the Economic Census 1977. After the Census, Economic Census Abstracts (ECA's) were prepared showing the number of directory and non-directory establishments in different selected non-agricultural activity groups for each enumeration block. These abstracts were taken as the sampling frame for selection of EB's.

Districts were taken as strata, and in each district EB's were selected with probability proportional to number of non-directory manufacturing establishments (NDME) and with replacement. EB's not having any NDME were excluded from sampling. The number of sample EB's was not fixed. Sampling was continued till the number of NDME's in the sample reached the district quota.

3.2.4 In many states, however, the rural ECA was not ready before July 1978. In these states EB's were selected through villages during the first sub-round, and rural strata of 32nd round which are either districts or parts of districts have been retained. In each stratum villages were selected with probability proportional to population and with replacement. Then from the sample villages of each stratum enumeration blocks were selected with probability proportional to NDME's and with replacement. For sub-rounds 2 to 4 however, rural EB's were selected directly from each district as mentioned in para 3.2.3.

3.2.5 The instruction for the Economic Census was to form two or more EB's in a village whenever the village population exceeded one thousand. However, this instruction could not be implemented in many cases and the whole village was taken as one EB during the Economic Census.

In such cases the whole village had been taken as one EB for the purpose of sample selection. And when such a village got selected it was divided into compact, identifiable sub-divisions of nearly equal population and one of them was selected at random for survey.

3.2.6 Sub-division of urban EB's : If any urban block had more than 1600 current population it was divided into two or more sub-blocks of nearly equal population each and one of the sub-blocks was selected at random for survey.

3.2.7 Sampling of enterprises : Normally all the non-directory manufacturing establishments and own-account enterprises engaged in manufacturing activity in an enumeration block or sub-block were taken up for survey. However, if the number of enterprises (including NDME's) exceeded 20 then a sample of them was selected systematically with the intervals mentioned below :

no. of enterprises (1)	interval (2)
1 - 20	1
21 - 40	2
41 - 60	3 and so on

3.3 Rural Design for repeat sample : During the 29th round each district or part of a district was taken as a rural stratum in which villages were selected with probability proportional to size (related to population) and with replacement. One-fourth of these sample villages have been selected systematically to augment the main sample of the 33rd round.

3.4 Urban design for repeat sample : In the 29th round urban blocks were selected with probability proportional to population size and with replacement. One-fourth of them has been selected systematically for this round.

3.5 North-eastern Region : This region covers the states of Arunachal Pradesh, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Tripura, Nagaland and two hill districts of Assam. Cluster sampling of villages was adopted in the rural areas of this region. In each rural stratum, nucleus villages were selected with equal probability without replacement and clusters of four to six villages were formed around them. In Mizoram and in Manipur central district, individual villages were selected with equal probability and without replacement. However for the urban areas of this region, urban enumeration blocks have been selected as in other States. The procedures of sub-division of enumeration blocks and sampling of enterprises were same as in other states.

Estimation Procedure.

3.6. Main sample.

Notations :

s	:	subscript for stratum
i	:	subscript for enumeration block
j	:	subscript for enterprise/establishment
K	:	subscript for NDME/OAE; 1 for NDME, 2 for OAE
z	:	size of an EB (= number of non-directory manufacturing establishments in the EB).
Z	:	total size of a stratum
D	:	number of sub-blocks in an EB
n	:	number of EB's surveyed
H_1	:	total number of NDME's in an EB
H_2	:	total number of OAE's in an EB
h_1	:	number of NDME's surveyed in an EB
h_2	:	number of OAE's surveyed in an EB
r	:	number of strata in a region (state/district)
y	:	value of a characteristic

Let $\hat{Y}$ be the estimate of the region total of a characteristic y based on both the sub-sample and all sub-rounds. The $\hat{Y}$ is calculated as mentioned below :

Schedule 0.0

$$\hat{Y} = \sum_{s=1}^{r} \frac{Z_s}{n_s} \sum_{i=1}^{n_s} \frac{D_{si}}{m_{si}} y_{si} \quad \ldots\ldots\ldots (1)$$

Schedule 2.2B

$$\hat{Y} = \sum_{s=1}^{r} \frac{Z_s}{n_s} \sum_{i=1}^{n_s} \frac{D_{si}}{z_{si}} \sum_{k=1}^{2} \frac{H_{sik}}{h_{sik}} \sum_{j} y_{sikj} \quad \ldots\ldots(2)$$

The formulas are same for both rural and urban sectors.

3.7 Repeat Sample (29th Round)

Notations :

s : subscript for stratum
i : subscript for village/block
j : subscript for enterprise/establishment
D : number of sub-blocks formed in a village/block z : size of a village/block (as in 29th round)
Z : total size of a stratum (as in 29th round)

The notations n, $H_1, H_2, h_1; h_2$ and Y have same meaning as mentioned for the main sample

Then the estimate $\hat{Y}$ is given by formulas similar to (1) and (2)

Schedule 0.0

$$\hat{Y} = \sum_{s=1}^{r} \frac{Z_s}{n_s} \sum_{i=1}^{n_s} \frac{D_{si}}{z_{si}} y_{si} \quad \ldots\ldots\ldots \quad (3)$$

Schedule 2.2B

$$\hat{Y} = \sum_{s=1}^{r} \frac{Z_s}{n_s} \sum_{i=1}^{n_s} \frac{D_{si}}{z_{si}} \sum_{k=1}^{2} \frac{H_{sik}}{h_{sik}} \sum_{j} y_{sikj} \quad \ldots\ldots\ldots \quad (4)$$

3.8 North-Eastern Region

Notations : These are same as given in Section 3.6 except a few which are mentioned below.

i : subscript for villages in rural areas and for enumeration block (EB) in urban areas.
j : subscript for enterprise/establishment for schedules 2.2B.
N : total number of villages in a rural stratum.
n : number of surveyed villages/EB's.

Rural Sector

Schedule 0.0

$$\hat{Y} = \sum_{s=1}^{r} \frac{N_s}{n_s} \sum_{i=1}^{n_s} D_{si} \; y_{si} \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad (5)$$

Schedule 2.2B

$$\hat{Y} = \sum_{s=1}^{r} \frac{N_s}{n_s} \sum_{i=1}^{n_s} D_{si} \sum_{k=1}^{2} \frac{H_{sik}}{h_{sik}} \sum_{j} y_{sikj} \quad \ldots \quad (6)$$

Urban Sector

Separate estimates at the state level will be calculated from the main sample and the 29th round sample by formulas (1) to (4).

In all the cases the estimate of ratio R = Y/X has been obtained as $$\hat{R} = \hat{Y}/\hat{X} \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad (7)$$

3.9 Pooling of the main sample and the repeat sample : The main sample of EB's was drawn from those EB's which contained at least one non-directory manufacturing establishment (NDME) according to the Economic Census Abstract. Thus the EB's (i.e. areas) not containing any NDME are left uncovered by the main sample. On the other hand, the 29th round sample represents the whole universe of villages and urban blocks. Hence, at first, the repeat sample has been spilt up into two components one of which corresponds to the main sample and thereafter the estimates obtained from the two samples have been pooled together to arrive at the combined estimates presented in the report.

3.10 Procedure of Pooling

Rural Sector : The sample villages of the 29th round are divided into two groups viz. (1) group of villages containing at least one NDME, and (2) group of the remaining villages. The grouping is done on the basis of the listing schedule 0.0.

Then, for any aggregate type parameter i.e. total of a character y at the district/region/state level, two estimates $\hat{Y}_1$ and $\hat{Y}_2$ are built up from the repeat sample where $\hat{Y}_1$ = total of y for all villages of group 1, $\hat{Y}_2$ = total of y for all villages of group 2.

The estimate $\hat{Y}_1$ is obtained by taking the sample observations as zero for villages of group 2, and $\hat{Y}_2$ is calculated by taking the sample values as zero for villages of group 1. However, the village level multipliers for the two groups are equal and same as that for the whole sample, The villages for which values are taken as zero are treated as surveyed villages and not casualty. Suppose, for example, a stratum (of the repeat sample) contains 6 sample villages among which the first four villages belong to group 1 and remaining two villages to group 2. The estimate of stratum total is given by $$\hat{Y} = \frac{Z_s}{6} \sum_{i=1}^{6} \frac{\hat{Y}_{si}}{Z_{si}} \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad (8)$$ where Z_{si} = size of i^{th} village (as in 29th round).

Z_s = stratum size (29th round)

$\hat{Y}_{si}$ = estimated value for i^{th} village.

Then $$\hat{Y}_1 = \frac{Z_s}{6} \sum_{i=1}^{4} \hat{Y}_{si}/Z_{si} \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad (9)$$ and $$\hat{Y}_2 = \frac{Z_s}{6} \sum_{i=5}^{6} \hat{Y}_{si}/Z_{si} \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad (10)$$

Such estimates added over strata give $\hat{Y}_1$ and $\hat{Y}_2$ at the district/region/state level.

For any given level, the estimate $\hat{Y}_m$ obtained from the main sample has been pooled with corresponding $\hat{Y}_1$ to give the combined estimate $\hat{Y}_{1m}$

$$\hat{Y}_{1m} = \frac{n_m \hat{Y}_m + n_1 \hat{Y}_1}{n_m + n_1} \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad (11)$$

Where $\hat{Y}_m$ and $\hat{Y}_1$ are based on n_m enumeration blocks and n_1 group 1 villages respectively. The final estimate of total $\hat{Y}_T$ is simply $$\hat{Y}_T = \hat{Y}_{1m} + \hat{Y}_2 \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad (12)$$

3.11 Estimates of ratios are obtained as

$$\hat{R}_T = \hat{Y}_T/\hat{X}_T \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad \ldots \quad (13)$$

3.12 A similar procedure is followed for the urban sector also.

SECTION FOUR

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

4.1 Some of the important findings of the survey based on the Central sample are discussed in this section separately for the rural and urban sectors for the six states, namely, Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Bihar, Gujarat, Haryana and Himachal Pradesh.

4.2 Number of non-directory manufacturing establishments : Amongst the six states taken up for study for which the estimates have been presented in this report, Andhra Pradesh has the highest number of non-directory manufacturing establishments (NDME) in rural non-registered sector (36440) followed by Bihar (18986). Haryana (10278) and Gujarat (9047) report almost the same number of non-directory manufacturing establishments. The estimate of Assam (4616) is higher than Himachal Pradesh (3546). In urban areas, Gujarat (21070) and Andhra Pradesh (19518) have almost the same number of non-directory manufacturing establishments. The estimates for Bihar, Haryana, Assam and Himachal Pradesh are 16356, 6968, 5449 and 1198 respectively. Table (0.1) gives the estimated number of NDME and OAE in rural and urban areas in the concerned states.

Table (0.1) : Estimated number of non-directory manufacturing establishments and own-account enterprises and the percentage of own-account enterprises to total enterprises.

Andhra Pradesh	19518	99650	119168	72.45
Assam	5449	14336	19785	83.62
Bihar	16356	69589	85945	80.97
Gujarat	21070	82500	103570	79.66
Haryana	6968	26919	33887	79.44
Himachal Pradesh	1198	2667	3865	69.00

4.3 Number of own-account enterprises : It can be seen from table (0.1) that the estimates of own-account enterprises (OAE) are generally much higher than those of non-directory establishments in all the six states in both rural and urban areas. Even though in rural areas Andhra Pradesh leads with regard to the number of non-directory manufacturing establishments, it ranks below Bihar in respect of the number of own-account enterprises. Andhra Pradesh regains its position in urban areas and tops the list amongst the six states in own-account enterprises. Assam in rural areas and Himachal Pradesh in urban areas report the lowest number of own-account enterprises. If the percentage of own-account enterprises to total enterprises, constituted by NDME and OAE taken together is considered, it can be observed that the same varies from 90 to 97 in rural areas and from 69 to 84 in urban areas. It is also noticed that in all the states this percentage is much higher in rural areas than in urban areas. The percentage is as high as 97 in Bihar rural.

4.4 Some important characteristics : employees, fixed assets and output.

Table (0.2) gives the estimates of employees, fixed assets and output for NDME and OAE in rural and urban areas.

Table (0.2) : Estimates of employees, fixed assets and output.

Total	19.03	168.53	322.24	4.77	73.81	147.81

It is observed from table (0.2) that with the investment of Rs. 94.33 crores and Rs. 59.21 crores in respect of fixed assets in non-directory manufacturing enterprises in rural and urban areas at current market price, six states have provided employment to 2.29 lakhs and 2.14 lakhs of persons and have output of Rs.86,97 crores and Rs. 110,57 crores in rural and urban areas respectively. Andhra Pradesh in rural and Gujarat in urban register the highest output. Himachal Pradesh in both rural and urban comes lowest in the ladder in respect of output. The investment in fixed assets in own-account enterprises is much higher than that of non-directory manufacturing establishments and amounts to Rs. 168.53 crores and Rs. 73.81 crores in rural and urban areas for the six states taken together. This investment has generated employment of 19.03 lakhs and 4.77 lakhs of persons and output of Rs. 322.24 crores and Rs. 147.81 crores in rural and urban sectors respectively. However, it can be noticed from the table that output per employee is higher in non-directory manufacturing enterprises than in own-account enterprises.

4.5 It is of interest to compare the estimates of 29th and 33rd rounds unregistered manufacture. From the survey of NSS-29th round estimates are available for the unregistered sector of the manufacturing enterprises. The estimates of non-directory manufacturing establishments and own-account enterprises as shown in table (0.1), when added to the estimates of directory manufacturing establishments (DME) obtained from another survey undertaken concurrently with the NSS 33rd round, give the total number of unregistered manufacturing enterprises which become comparable with the corresponding estimates of NSS 29th round. These estimates are presented in table (0.3)along with the estimates of NSS-29th round.

Table (0.3) : Estimated number of unregistered enterprises in 29th and 33rd round.

Himachal Pradesh	54000	54394	510	54904	2940	3865	212	4077

It is seen that the estimates of enterprises for Andhra Pradesh for both rural and urban areas and of Gujarat for the rural areas in

* Provisional estimates as available from CSO.

29th round are higher than these of the 33rd round . Since the 29th round was conducted four years ago, the estimates of 33rd round are expected to be higher than these of the 29th round. It may not be out of place to mention that while households formed the ultimate sampling units through which relevant information on the enterprises were collected in the 29th round, enterprises as listed in the sample enumeration blocks available from the Economic Census Frame of 1977 constituted the ultimate sampling units in the 33rd round. However, per enterprise estimates of different characteristics of enterprises as presented in Table (0.4) based on the data of 29th round and of DME, NDME & OAE taken together for 33rd round seem to be more or less consistent with the change over time.

4.6 It may be seen from the estimates of table (0.4) that the number of employees per manufacturing enterprise in rural areas is of the same order in 29th and 33rd round in Andhra Pradesh and Bihar.

*Table (0.4) : Comparison of per enterprise estimates of some important characteristics for 29th round & 33rd round.

Assam, Gujarat and Haryana report an increase in the number of employees per enterprise in 33rd round while Himachal Pradesh shows a slight decline. However, in the urban areas the estimates of 33rd round indicate an improvement in all the six states. In Gujarat and Haryana, the increase is quite appreciable.

As far asthe behaviour of the characteristics of the enterprises over a period of four years that elapsed between 29th and 33rd rounds is concerned, it can be seen from table (0.4) that in rural areas there has been four-fold increase in per enterprise value of output in Gujarat and about five-fold increase in Haryana in 33rd round over 29th round. But the increase in value added is not of that order. This may be due to the uneven rate of increase in the value of input and output. In the remaining states, though there has been about two-fold increase in the per enterprise value of output in 33rd round over the 29th round, the estimates of per enterprise value added are marginally higher. In urban areas, Haryana has registered about seven-fold increase in the per enterprise value of output whereas the estimate of per enterprise value added is about four-times of 29th round estimate. In other states the rate of increase in respect of output and value added is not so high. In Himachal Pradesh, estimate of per enterprise value added is almost of the same order as that of the 29th round estimate.

The rural enterprises in Andhra Pradesh, Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh record higher rate of increase in fixed assets between the two rounds relative to the rate for the urban areas. However, the rate of increase in per enterprise value of fixed assets between 29th and 33rd round in rural areas is slightly lower than that of the urban areas in Assam, Bihar and Haryana.
